

48 DAYS TO THE WORK YOU LOVE 20TH ANNIVERSARY EDITION

Are You Living the Life You Love?

What do you want to be when you grow up?

That's a question many of us have asked and answered many times. But have we stopped to ask, "who do you want to be?"

This new edition of the New York Times Best Seller will address this fundamental question as the starting point for determining what you want to do.

"Yes, planning your LIFE comes before planning your WORK. The more you know yourself and the life you want, the more confidence you have about doing work that fits you," said Author Dan Miller

48 Days To the Work (and Life) You Love outlines a new process of looking at what you are going to be when you grow up. How has God uniquely gifted you in (1) skills and abilities, (2) personality traits, and (2) values, dreams and passions? From these areas you will see clear patterns from which to make not only career and job decisions but life decisions.

As a career thought leader, New York Times best-selling author Dan Miller helps high potential individuals understand and apply their unique and most powerful talents and passions so they can make a larger impact, leave a legacy and thrive financially. This new 20th Anniversary Edition provides new information and tips on overcoming "upper limit challenges," the diminishing importance of degrees, finding your unique Zone of Genius, and how to build a side business with only 15 hours per week.

"I do believe that the next 48 days can transform you life, " Miller said. "It is an adequate time frame in which to assess where you are uniquely gifted, identify your strongest characteristics, get the advice of competent advisors, consider the options, choose the best path for meaningful and fulfilling work, create a plan of action, and ACT."
